

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

COMPLETES HIS NINETIETH YEAR.

Judge A. M. Lamm celebrated his birthday Tuesday, October 20, 1931, having completed his 90th year of age. The Judge was born October 20, 1841, and during his long span of years has witnessed many remarkable changes and lived through some stirring experiences. As a young man, he went through the hardships of the Civil War and was severely wounded. And yet despite it all, he is still hale and active and every day attends to his work as a Notary Public.

Mrs. Lamm was 33 years old on October 19th, and the only thing to mar the pleasure of their usual joint observance of the natal days was the fact that Mrs. Lamm recently suffered injuries from a fall and is confined to her bed most of the time.

So far as this writer can call to mind, Judge Lamm is the last surviving Confederate veteran of our acquaintance, and so far as we know the last surviving Confederate soldier in Medina County.

The many friends of this aged couple congratulate them and wish them continued strength and enjoyment of life.

This week we publish the statement of the First National Bank as required by official call of September 29th. The statements of both the local banks and that of the D'Hanis State Bank have all now been published in this paper as required by law. A reading of these statements shows all three banks in a sound, healthy condition. The low prices being received for crops here has reduced the volume of money somewhat below what it would be if better prices prevailed, but with the abundance of feed and grain no one is in distress and the present depression will be safely weathered as has been done before. It is remembered that in 1907, when most banks over the country limited cash payments and issued cashier's receipts, the two local banks continued to do business as usual right on through the panic. A thrifty substantial body of patrons is any bank's best asset; and our people in the mass are that kind.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK.

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

THAT the stores that advertise are prepared to be of real helpfulness to you; visit them often.

They keep their stocks replenished with seasonable merchandise so you can make easy selections.

To know the true value of quality goods and to derive satisfaction, you must buy from stores that advertise.

It is a good thing to know where to buy good merchandise. Read the ads; you will find the names of progressive merchants there.

To keep a community prosperous, money must circulate freely; it can only circulate according to the desires of the people.

Money spent or invested in the home city circulates in the home city. If it is spent away from home it circulates in some other city and leaves the home city with no business, which means that the wheels of progress are stopped.

WHEN BUYING, DON'T FORGET YOUR OWN INTERESTS. BUY ADVERTISED GOODS FROM HOME MERCHANTS.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

It was an occasion for thanksgiving to see three large audiences of God's people present at the Mission Rally service held last Sunday. The inspiring services should long be remembered, and with the Lord's blessing should bear much good fruit.

Owing to a fatal accident in the home of Prof. Streng, the strangling of his infant son, he was not able to be present at our celebration. Prof. Kuhlmann, however, substituted for Brother Streng at the German service. The speaker also addressed the large audience at the night service, dwelling on the subject of foreign mission in India and New Guinea. His chosen text was: "Cast thy bread upon the waters; for thou shalt find it after many days." Ecclesiastes II, 1. Interesting stories were related regarding the success of mission work in our New Guinea field.

Rev. Hasskarl of Quibi impressed the hearers with the importance of starting mission work right at home. "We are laborers together with God." I Cor. 3, 9 was the basis for his short talk.

The Sunday school program as well as the Luther League program were very well rendered. Everyone received an inspiration from these services.

Next Sunday the services will be held in the German language beginning at 10:30.

The Sunday school and Bible class meet at 9:15.

On November 1 we shall celebrate our Reformation Festival. Many historians regard the beginning of Modern History as having its advent in the great reform movement in Germany in the sixteenth century. We shall meet to consider the great blessings which we have yet this very day as a result of this God-sent reform over 400 years ago. This service begins at 10:30. Holy Communion will be celebrated in connection with this service. Announcements may be made on the Friday and the Saturday preceding.

The choir meets Wednesday night for rehearsal, beginning at 7:30.

On next Sunday afternoon, Oct. 25, at 3 o'clock, the men of our church are asked to meet with the men of the other Lutheran churches in this vicinity in our own church at Hondo for a very important discussion. The president of the District will be there if possible to have a heart-to-heart informal consideration of church finances. It is hoped that a large delegation will be present.

NOTICE.

To the good People of Hondo— which should include all—

Please let us have a general clean-up day. First see that our flues are cleaned; next our yards, alleys, and also along the sidewalks. Let us all get busy to prevent fires and this might save our faithful Volunteer Fire Company quite a bit of hard labor.

Next, let every Property Owner or whosoever is interested in our Volunteer Fire Co. place $1.00 or $2.00 in either one of our good Hondo banks for their benefit, to defray their expenses such as lot rent and material and supplies, to show our appreciation towards them.

So will cheer you with a little song:

Do something for somebody always,
Whatever may be your creed,
There is nothing on Earth can help you
So much as a kindly deed!

Respectfully,
A Friend of our Vol. Fire Co.

MRS. KNOPP HOSTESS.

Mrs. Thomas B. Knopp added an interesting date to the calendar of Saturday when she entertained with a bridge at home for a large group of friends. Mrs. Knopp received her guests and her two little daughters, Evelyn and Margaret Ann, costumed as charming Harlequins in black and orange, distributed the tallies in Hallowe'en motif among them.

The spacious reception room, dining room and dining room were adorned with vases and low bowls of black filled with clusters of orange cosmos, carrying out the Hallowe'en feature, as did the clever decorations of black cats, owls, and orange Jack-o'-lanterns. The mantle in the drawing room was banked with autumn foliage and shaded lights lent a luminous glow to the lovely scene.

Table appointments carried out the chosen theme and centering each table was a black vase filled with the same lovely flowers, which served as table prizes for each of the sixteen tables.

After four games of bridge cleverly selected bridge prizes were awarded as follows: first, a black porcelain cat tied with an orange taffeta bow, to Miss Elizabeth Wilson; second, a pair of ebony candle sticks with orange candles, to Mrs. O. H. Miller; third, an orange utility powder box, to Mrs. Alfred Rath; consolation, a strand of orange beads, to Miss Emma Hodges.

A delightful program was provided following the bridge and during the serving. The talented little Misses Evelyn and Margaret Ann Knopp rendered a charming violin and piano duet, and the former gave several piano selections. Other enjoyable piano numbers were rendered by Misses Minnie Margaret Howard and Elizabeth Wilson.

A delicious collation of molded chicken salad, fruit salad in grapefruit cups, deviled food cake and coffee was served. Compotes of candied fruit confections accentuated the chosen color.

The guest list follows: Mesdames Horace Bradley, L. J. Brucks, J. M. Finger, L. E. Heath, Robt. Decker, W. H. Smith, H. J. Meyer, O. H. Miller, R. J. Noonan, Earl Starnes, O. B. Taylor, H. E. A NEW TURKEY RANGE.

It is not an uncommon occurrence, especially during the hunting season when they are being shot at from every side, to hear the frightened call of the bobwhite right in the heart of town. But for wild turkeys to come to town is an unusual occurrence. But it has occurred, right here in Hondo. Early yesterday morning two turkey hens were observed by a number of people. They flew about town rather promiscuously and were seen to light several times only to be startled again and finally disappeared.

Whether out of season hunters had disturbed them in their roosting place and they were lost in trying to make a frightened get-away, or whether the law against killing hens has caused them to become so numerous that these had to seek new range we leave it to you to guess.

Monument Honors Henri de Castro

The memory of Henri de Castro, Frenchman, who founded Castroville, was honored on October 11th when the monument shown below was dedicated at ceremonies on September Square and under the pecan trees along the Medina River where Castro's little band of settlers ended their journey in 1834, the Order of Alhambra sponsoring the event. Standing beside the shaft are: left to right, Louis Rodriguez, sculptor; Ben Schwegmann and Joseph Courand.

MEDINA COUNTY COUNCIL OF P. T. A. CONVENED.

The Medina County Council of the P. T. A.'s which convened at Biry Saturday afternoon, Oct. 17th, was considered one of the best and most instructive held since its organization. The attendance was exceptionally large, with representatives from LaCoste, Natalia, Shook, Biry, Black Creek, Pearson, Yancey, Maverick, New Fountain, Dunlay, Hondo, Devine and D'Hanis. There were fully two hundred in attendance. The meeting opened at 2:30 with Supt. W. N. Saathoff presiding. After the singing of "America" and reading of the creed, Mr. G. McCorley in a few well chosen remarks called the guests welcome. Mr. J. W. Knox, assistant superintendent of the city schools of San Antonio, was then introduced and spoke on the "Happy Home." In his discourse he stressed the need of children in the homes upon whom fathers and mothers might lavish their affections to the extent of rearing them as true and loyal citizens of their country. Mr. Knox believes in father-son companionship in work as well as in play. Too often parents make mistakes when they try to direct their children even in home activities and duties. The command is too often "You go" instead of "Let us go." Children can't well be driven, but they are easily led. Ideals instilled into the hearts and minds of children by parents will ultimately come to fruition and result in better homes and better environments. Children crave for entertainment, hence a home with conveniences, libraries, music, etc., will have a tendency to keep the child at home where he can meet his friends and thus under direction cultivate and build up youth confiding in parental comradeship. Let the child realize its importance in the home. He will do his "bit" toward making it a happy place.

Mr. Stendebach of Yancey spoke on "The School of Tomorrow". His thoughts were well chosen and to the point. He stated that the school of tomorrow will deal with the child and his possibilities rather than with books. The schools should include in their programs activities that will foster in the child the highest qualities of spiritual, mental and moral character, and which will inculcate a love of the beautiful in nature, art and noble human relationship. The school of tomorrow will give to the child a constructive program for vocational education and guidance which will enable the youth to find the occupation in life for which he is best adapted and which will enable him to make his largest contribution to the social welfare.

Short talks were made by Mr. Uhr, Mr. Hirsch and Mr. Arnold of San Antonio.

The musical selections were of the highest type by artists of rare ability. Mr. Couser, teacher in the Natalia school, gave two selections on the violin. It was a rare treat to listen to the sweet full tones of this marvelous instrument.

Mrs. Busby rendered two selections on the piano. She is a scholar of the "old school" and understands every feature of the ivory board. Her selections were full of life and thrilled the audience. Rev. and Mrs. Cochran, Baptist minister and wife of Devine, rendered two vocal selections. Both are scholars at the profession and their songs added much to the entertainment of the occasion. Devine people are fortunate in having such trained musicians in their midst.

The Biry P. T. A. is unsurpassed when it comes to entertainment. The refreshments were bountiful and "oh, so delicious." Their hospitality is appreciated and their cordial relation and friendship is held in highest esteem. All the members did their part in making the meeting of the council at Biry a success. And it was a success. Congratulations, kind P. T. A. of Biry.

The chairman read a letter from the 5th district chairman congratulating the Medina Council for having its program used as a model program in the National Bulletin of P. T. A. in session at St. Louis.

It was voted that the P. T. A.'s of the county meet with the State P. T. A. in San Antonio on Nov. 10th. Every organization is urged to have a representative in San Antonio for the State meeting.

The next meeting of the council will be in Devine sometime in December. The program will be arranged later.

W. N. SAATHOFF,
County Superintendent.

CHEVROLET OFFICIALS RECEIVE PROMOTIONS.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23.—Appointment of R. H. Crocker as Advertising Manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, succeeding R. K. White, who has been transferred to the Oakland division of General Motors in a sales capacity, was announced here by H. J. Kluger, vice-president and general sales manager of Chevrolet.

Promotion of Mr. Crocker, who was formerly assistant advertising manager, places the administration of Chevrolet's large annual advertising budget in the hands of a man eminently qualified by previous experience for the post.

Starting on the Detroit News during school vacations, his entire career has been spent in various phases of advertising or sales promotional work, with such well-known national organizations as the Burroughs Adding Machine Company; the old Chalmers Motor Car Company, where as advertising manager he administered the first million dollar budget in the automobile industry; the Federal Motor Truck Co. and the Campbell-Ewald advertising agency, from which post he joined Chevrolet as assistant advertising manager little more than a year ago.

His successor as assistant is W. C. Byers, formerly sales promotion manager of Chevrolet's region at Cincinnati. Both posts were filled according to Chevrolet's established policy of promoting men within the organization.

Nothing less than a six can give you built-in smoothness

The whole question was settled long ago—as to how many cylinders it takes in a motor car engine to give satisfactory smoothness. Science definitely established the fact that at least six are necessary. And today, the public accepts the multi-cylinder engine in the same way that it accepts 4-wheel brakes, parallel-mounted springs and every other principle of proved and acknowledged superiority. Everybody knows that nothing less than a six can give you built-in smoothness.

Today, six-cylinder smoothness is within reach of every new car buyer. For Chevrolet has produced a quality car, powered it with a firmly-mounted six-cylinder motor—engineered it to run with unsurpassed economy—and priced it down among the very lowest-priced cars in the market.

V. A. BROWN HONORED AT BOY SCOUT CAMP SITE SATURDAY.

At a meeting of some forty folks of the Nueces Canyon at the Camp Site Saturday morning a program of work, as well as words, was outlined for the dedication of the reinforced concrete building, 40 by 76 ft. in dimensions, and our beautiful mess hall and kitchen were dedicated to the boys and girls, honoring the efforts of our Camp Chairman, V. A. Brown, in making possible the camp and building program.

Some twenty yards of gravel and sand were hauled to the Camp Site for future concrete construction. Meat donated by J. M. Howerton, Neal Jernigan, C. E. Daly and F. E. Howerton was barbecued by our good friend, Mr. Chant, which with the salads, cakes and pies brought by the good ladies of the neighborhood, together with the tea, coffee, sugar and ice donated by Ted Daly, made up a fine picnic dinner for all present.

The splendid meal was followed by a round table discussion in which some of the romance and history of Southwest Texas, the Nueces Canyon, and some of our National characters, who have visited this section, were discussed. Mrs. Beck told of living conditions in the Canyon during the '80's. During this period Mrs. Beck, while visiting her uncle in Florida, was invited by Gen. Robert E. Lee to go on a tour of the Bahama Islands, making the trip by steamer and taking more than a week. It was brought out in the discussion that Robt. E. Lee was once stationed at Ft. Clark and that the building that he used as an office is still standing.

Mr. C. E. Daly gave the details of one of the last Indian raids in the Canyon. Commissioner Dick Perkins told of his first visit to the Canyon in '81, when just a small boy in the back of a covered wagon, he peeped out and saw a wild cowboy riding down the streets of Barksdale bedecked in cow bells and six shooters.

Professor Terry Hill gave us some history, stating that General Hood, when a young officer, had been stationed at Camp Wood, and telling us the location of the mines that had once been worked in this section, also of the establishment of the "Mission Canyon", the remains of which are still to be seen. Professor Richards gave a part of J. Frank Dobie's history of the Canyon.

Mr. F. E. Howerton and the Scout Executive told of Mr. Brown's continuous effort to make possible the ownership of the beautiful camp site and its surroundings. Many comments of appreciation of Mr. Brown and his service to the future citizenship of Southwest Texas were heard; and as a fitting close to a day of service a prayer was offered dedicating the building to the youth of this section for all time to come.

BOY SCOUTS AS CRIMINALS.

A judge of one of our large cities was suffering from a slight attack of rheumatism so that his usual cheerful disposition was all awry.

A tiny boy scout, hurrying along on some errand, brushed against the judge and brought his rheumatism to mind. The boy apologized but the judge was plainly annoyed.

"Those boy scouts are everywhere," he said, turning to a friend. "They bump into me on the street, I see them along the country lanes, they carry flags in parades, they're always trying to help me across the street when I happen to limp a bit —oh, I see them everywhere."

"Did one ever appear before you in Juvenile Court?" asked his friend.

The judge did not reply for a moment but thought deeply. He then turned to the other with a smile. "Never in my whole career," he said. "Perhaps there is something to this scout movement after all."

It is interesting to know that rarely, if ever, does a boy scout in good standing appear before judge or magistrate as a culprit. This has become so noticeable that eminent jurists constantly mention it when addressing groups of adults who might be interested in the boy scout movement.

Undoubtedly there is something to a movement which can touch one-seventh of America's boys and keep them from crime.

THE LAST WORD

A group of pilots were buzzing about something or other as the flight commander approached, and several times he caught the expression, 'the last word in airplanes.'

"Well," he said as he reached the group, "what is the last word in airplanes?"

"Jump!" chorused the group.

"I have never bought or sold a share of stock speculatively in my life, except one small lot that I bought early in life. I determined to sell all my interests in every outside concern and concentrate my attention upon our concerns in Pittsburgh. Such a course should commend itself to every man. For a business man especially the rule would seem all-important. His mind must be kept calm and free if he is to decide wisely the problems which are continually coming before him. Nothing tells in the long run like good judgment, and no sound judgment can remain with the man whose mind is disturbed by the mercurial changes of speculation. It places him under an influence akin to intoxication. What is not, he sees, and what he sees, is not. He cannot judge of relative values or get the true perspective of things. Speculation is a parasite feeding upon values, creating none."

—ANDREW CARNEGIE

A DOG was crossing a brook with a bone in his mouth. Looking into the stream he saw, as he supposed, another dog with another bone. Desiring to possess that also he made a snap at it, when lo and behold! the bone he was carrying dropped into the water and straight-way sunk to the bottom.

—An Old Fable

This dog "took a chance" (as some of us humans sometimes do) and lost all he had. Maybe you at some time have grasped at a shadow in the form of a get-rich-quick scheme that promised everything but became a total loss.

Alvin Mumme left a bunch of Higaria heads at this office Wednesday that are as fine specimens of this valuable grain as we have ever seen. An interesting feature of this crop is that it is from the second planting this year. Mr. Mumme planted his first crop April 20th last.
Following the harvesting of his oat crop, he plowed his oat stubble about July 1st. There was a good underground season in this stubble land but the surface was dry. On or about the last of July, following a nice shower of rain, Mr. Mumme took seed that had matured from his April 20th planting, some 90 days previous, and planted several acres of this stubble land. The heads he left at this office on October 21st are from this planting and are fully matured.
Mr. Mumme says the stand could be better, but he estimates the yield will be twenty bushels to the acre easily.
This crop has had only one light shower of rain on it since it was planted and grew and matured through the hottest and driest part of the year.

THE SPELL OF THE EN- CHANTRESS.

From The Owl.

One sunny afternoon Everyboy had wandered far from home, and as the day faded and night came on, he found himself lost in the Forest of Day Dreams. Suddenly he felt a sharp, sweet pain in the region of his heart, and he saw a little, bright, shining creature approaching with a bow and arrow in his hand.

"I am Dan Cupid," said the shining one, "and I give you the key that will unlock the gate to the Land of Romance."

Everyboy took the tiny golden key and wandered on until he came to a large, formidable-looking wall with a strong gate on which was written—
"I will only open to those whose hearts

Have been pierced by Cupid's darts."

Everyboy fitted the key to the lock and the gate flew open. Within was a land of magic. It seemed that the moon had never been so near or shone so softly or the stars looked so luminous. The gentle breeze carried the sweet fragrance of roses and lilacs. The grass felt like a fine carpet, and the moonbeams delighted in making shadow pictures on it as they sifted through the foliage of friendly trees which with outstretched branches seemed to invite one to rest. Everyboy paused amazed to admire and think how lovely it would be to spend the rest of his life just dreaming in a spot like that.

He could not stop there. Something seemed to lead him on. He lifted his eyes and saw an imposing castle with a moat and drawbridge and, wonder of wonders, in the tower a beautiful maiden. As he looked, she stretched out her hands and began to sing with tones as clear as a bell. She sang of the wonders of love, and as she sang, he became enamoured of her. Her golden hair fell in waves that rippled in the moonlight, and the brilliant blue of her eyes and ruby of her lips made as pretty a picture as Everyboy ever hoped to see. Presently her song grew softer and more pleading. She sang of a knight who would rescue her from this Castle of Pa. Everyboy felt as though he could do anything for so glorious a maiden, and he started toward her.

At that moment a great canyon opened ahead of him and grew wider and wider as he gazed. Nothing could daunt him, and with the thought of his lady love, he descended into the Canyon of Heartaches.
He met another boy whose name was Rival. Rival led Everyboy into the Wilderness of Jealousy where he was lost for a long time. Finally Common Sense appeared and showed Everyboy the way out of the Wilderness of Jealousy. But after he was out of the Wilderness, Common Sense deserted him, and he wandered in the Morass of Despair. After a long time he came to where he could again see the castle and its beautiful occupant. As he approached, the Castle of Pa became smaller and shabbier, and the Enchantress less enchanting.
When he finally climbed the sides of chantress was not as beautiful as he had thought her, and he really did not care to go in and claim her. At this time he saw someone approaching and asked the name of the newcomer.

"My name is Disillusion," he said,
"and I have come to lead you back to the Land of Everyday Things."

Then before Everyboy knew what was happening, he was back in school with nothing left to remind him of his adventure in the Land of Romance except memories.

A Fish went to the window of the library and said, "I want a play."
"What do you want to play," the librarian very politely asked.

Seeking to make it clearer, he said,
"I want a drammer".

"Shakespeare?" she inquired.

"No," he answered, "The Merchant of Venice".

COLONIAL COVERINGS.

Riding, shooting, bull-dogging and other typical things of the West hold away in "Men Without Law," the all-talking picture featuring Buck Jones at the Colonial Theatre Saturday.
His acting and feats of horsemanship in this picture should do much to keep him in the front ranks of present day screen stars. This picture also boasts a cast of top-notch film names.

"Charley's Aunt," an hilarious comedy of student life at picturesque Oxford University, is the latest vehicle of that famous player, Charlie Ruggles, beloved of millions of fans.
This Columbia picture is scheduled to come to the Colonial Theatre for Sunday and Monday. The story involves a female impersonator and his experiences as chaperon to two young girls. The result is a laugh marathon. A large and imposing cast support Charlie in this film.

There's only one finish for racket-teers—a quick one. They may go on in their sensational careers for a while, but they always come up against other gangsters or the law.
That is illustrated forcefully in the Columbia picture "The Last Parade," which begins Thursday at the Colonial Theatre. Jack Holt, Tom Moore, Constance Cummings and Gaylord Pendleton play leading roles in this offering. The story concerns a battle between two gangsters, one of them wiping out the other in revenge for the shooting of a newspaper reporter. The avenger, in turn, finds himself confronted with the inevitable law.

HONDO, TEXAS, OCT. 23, 1931

TEXAS AND TEXANS.

By
Will H. Mayes
"All Texans for All Texas"

Texas Urban Population.

Several Texas cities have reached real city proportions. Houston's metropolitan area is given in the 1930 census as having 339,216 population; that of Dallas, 309,658; San Antonio, 279,271; Fort Worth, 174,575; El Paso, 118,461. In "metropolitan areas", in addition to the central city, is included all adjacent and contiguous territory having a density of not less than 150 inhabitants per square mile. The relative rank of the leading Texas cities in "metropolitan" and "central" areas is the same. It is interesting to know that the retail trade of the foremost Texas cities is in almost exact relative proportion to population, which shows that the different sections of Texas are about equally prosperous.

New Texas Railroad.

Unless the Interstate Commerce Commission blocks the plans, a railroad will soon be built from Del Rio to Sonora to connect with the northern terminus of the Winter Garden Belt Railway. Right of way is being secured, engineers are in the field, traffic data is being secured and other preliminary steps are under way. The State charter has been obtained and officers of the road say they are "ready to go." The line is to run almost due north from Del Rio, a distance of 35 miles.

Awaits Commission Permit.

Another railroad, the Gulf and West Texas, from San Antonio to San Angelo, is awaiting a decision from the Interstate Commerce Commission as to whether it will be allowed to build a new line from the Kerrville line to Fredericksburg, paralleling the Fredericksburg & Northern from Fredericksburg, because of inability to agree with the owners of the Fredericksburg road as to the price to be paid for the existing track. The Southern Pacific has 150 cars of track building material in the San Antonio yards awaiting permission for work to be started.

Large Building Program.

Around $4,500,000 in new buildings will be started at the University of Texas in the next few months, with funds obtained from money borrowed through liens on oil royalties. It will be the largest building program the University has ever undertaken at one time, and the regents say that in view of employment conditions they will exact of contractors that they employ Texas people exclusively in erection of the buildings.

Providing For Winter.

In Erio county, with a population of less than 10,000, approximately 150,000 cans and containers of vegetables and fruits are stored on pantry shelves ready for use. These stored treasures will go a long way to supplement the season's supply of staple foods. It is significant that where an active home demonstration agent is employed in a county there is always a large supply of farm products put up in a way to be in readiness for use when needed.

Farm Demonstration Retained.

E. B. Neiswanger, chairman of the agricultural department of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, recently sent out a letter urging counties in that section of the State to retain their home and farm agents. He pointed out that these are the country's most valuable helpers in the readjustment of living conditions to the times, in that they demonstrate practically how to make and preserve home produced foods to the best advantage. Most of the counties answered that, however much economy might be needed in county management these agents had proven their worth and would be retained.

Community Clubs.

Small towns and communities that hardly need chambers of commerce should follow the plan under consideration by Harper, Gillespie county, for organization of a community club in which regular meetings will be to discuss and solve all community problems that arise. Such meetings should bring about better understanding of local affairs and much-needed co-operation in doing the hundreds of things to better local conditions. Such clubs should include both men and women and should result in more neighborly understanding among the people.

Require Charity Permits.

Too often are people imposed on by charity seekers. Many of these take advantage of existing conditions to seek alms when they should be at work for their living. Solicitors for organizations go from town to town asking support in the name of charities, some of which are not entitled to help. Some local organizations, rendering a service more or less worthwhile, cost more than the service rendered in worth. There is often unnecessary duplication. The Brady Chamber of Commerce has a committee that will require permits from all charity solictors in the town and make things interesting for those trying to solicit without a permit.

Send Hoodlums Home.

Some 200 boys, said to have been University students, recently attempted to force their way into an Austin movie show by crashing the doors. Employees of the theatre resisted, and in the fight hands were bruised, one student lost a tooth, and doors were damaged. It costs taxpayers much hard-earned money to have a student attend the University. When one deliberately joins a mob, engages in a riot, and attempts to force some one to give him something for nothing—the price of a slow ticket or anything else—he becomes a member of a hijacking organization and should be sent home. State supported schools are not the place for such hoodlums.

Shipping to Northward.

Already carloads of Texas vegetables and fruits from the Rio Grande districts are being rushed to the north, and despite the fact that prices may be lower than in some previous seasons, returns for the crop, for labor and for transportation will start much money in circulation in that territory. The acreage in most crops is about the same as last season.

Prosperity Pointers.

Wilson county is shipping about 100 cars of peanuts this season. The Southern Pacific Railroad will soon start construction of a $3,500,000 passenger station at Houston.

Temple is extending its white way thirty-seven blocks or about two miles.

Bids for an $85,000 postoffice building at Georgetown have been opened at Washington.

Big Springs will start construction of a $200,000 city hall and fire station about December 1.

A $150,000 bottling plant has been opened at Beaumont.

The American Desk Company at Temple is working night shifts—24 hours a day, 7 days a week—to catch up with orders.

A $3,000,000 oil refinery is to be built soon in the ship channel at Houston.

Plans are being completed for a $95,000 postoffice building at Kerrville.

The Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation, of Chicago, is getting estimates for cheese factory at Anson.

Longview is soon to start work on a $175,000 high school building. Salt production in Crane county has reached 100 tons weekly, most of which is marketed in West Texas.

Fifty men are employed on construction of the courthouse at Wellington and the number will be increased soon.

One hundred men are employed on the $6,600,000 irrigation canal project in Maverick county. About 15,000 acres will be irrigated.

An old building is being torn down at Tarkana to make way for an $800,000 postoffice building.

FROM THE OWL

The Hondo Owls won their third victory of the 1931 season last Friday, Oct. 9, when they met Asherton High on the Owls' home field. The game was rather one-sided and ended 47 to nothing in favor of the Owls. The Owls scored four touchdowns in the first half of the game, two by Edward Taylor and two by A. Finger. Edward kicked three extra points making the score 27 to 0 as the final whistle of the first half blew. Three touchdowns were made in the last half and two extra points out of three were kicked making the score 47 to 0 in favor of the Owls at the end of the game.

The Asherton team and the Owls were evenly matched as far as weight was concerned but the Asherton boys lacked experience and team work which is an essential factor in the winning of a football game. The game was a slow one in every respect. The Owls lacked their usual fight and aggressiveness even though they won the game by a large score. The blocking, tackling and everything was sorry on the part of both teams much to the disgust of the Owl rooters and other football fans. Considerable razzing was noted to have proceeded from a group of football players from the city of Uvalde which means that the Owls had better show fight when they meet the Coyotes at Uvalde.

The Owls received wonderful support from the Pep Squad even though they did not deserve it and this shows that the Pep Squad has the right spirit when it comes to backing their team.

OWLS BEAT DEVINE.

The Hondo Owls defeated the Devine War Horses on the local greenward last Friday, Oct. 16, to win their second conference game of the season by a score of 28 to 0. This was the hardest battle the Owls had encountered this year.

At the opening whistle the Owls kicked off to Devine. The ball rolled across the end zone and was brought back to the twenty yard line where the Owls blocked an attempted kick and recovered it. The Owls then took the ball and punched it across for the first and only touchdown of the first half. E. Taylor then kicked the extra point making the score 7 to 0. The War Horses did not give up hope at this bit of hard luck but instead they held the Owls for downs while they made several first downs before the half was over.

The Owls came back at the half and opened up on passes as their line plays had been stepped in the first half by Devine's powerful line. A. Finger hurled some beautiful passes to Parsons, T. Finger, Taylor, Jones and Haegelin who did equally as well in catching them. This passing netted a flock of first downs as well as three touchdowns. E. Taylor kicked the three extra points making a total of four kicks out of four trials. The score at the end of the game was Hondo 28 to Devine's 0.

Touchdowns were made by Haegelin, Taylor and A. Finger.

The War Horses showed some real fight in this game and they must be given credit for their fighting spirit and sportsmanship.

CIVICS CLASS ORGANIZES.

The Civics Class organized Friday, October 9. The Class was divided into three committees, each committee having a chairman and secretary. Margaret Dillon was elected chairman and Lucille Van Fleet secretary of the first committee; Mary Lois Barnes, chairman, and Dwyce Cameron, secretary of the second committee; Lucy Davis, chairman, and Thelma Wilson, secretary of the third committee. Each committee was then assigned a chapter to explain to the class. Two days are spent on the chapters, and if this plan works as it should, it will be continued for quite a while. (Mr. Flory needs a rest after grading all those charts, six page themes, and "pop tests", so he decided to make the class work while he listens and takes grades.)

SENIOR PICNIC.

The Seniors enjoyed a picnic at Castroville Friday after the football game. After waiting at the school house several hours we finally started for Castroville. (The reason for the delay was that a certain Senior girl just could not decide if she preferred to see Asherton or Castroville.) When we arrived at Castroville several brave persons went swimming while others went boat riding and played pool. After everyone was found, the supper of sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, fruit and cookies was served. Since neither Jack Mask, Mr. Flory nor Mr. Fluker were feeling hungry everyone had enough to eat. After this those who knew how to dance (and some who didn't) gracefully performed for the less fortunate ones. At about nine o'clock Mr. Fluker decided it was time for his pets to be in bed so we all journeyed home where we all stayed up anyway. (By Mr. Fluker's pets we don't mean the post-graduates whom we allowed to picnic with us.) The Juniors are all sorry they were not invited to this picnic, but they must not worry because on a certain day next spring they will feel a thrill because of being in the presence of the "august" Seniors.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Robert Zuberbueller attended the Texas-Rice game at Austin Saturday.

Misses Mary Ruth Wilson and Jeanette Merritt were D'Hanis visitors Sunday.

Misses Boyd and Tweedy and Mr. Fluker spent the day in San Antonio Saturday.

Sunday Miss Irene Mechler was a visitor at Castroville.

Mr. Flory was another rooter at the Texas-Rice game.

Ye Editor and ye Business Manager were seen in San Antonio Saturday.

Misses Thelma and Elizabeth Wilson, and Messrs. August Finger and Rudy Rath were San Antonio visitors Sunday.

Misses Gen Brucks and Bernice Chancey spent the week-end in Sabinal, the guests of Miss Frances Giffin.

Miss Naomi Steinle was a visitor in Castroville Sunday.

SENIOR GRADES.

There are twenty-five seniors in Hondo High School taking a total of one hundred and two subjects, which is about four subjects apiece. For the first month there were only eight failures, and B was the average grade, there being thirteen of them. The average for a high school class is supposed to be about C plus. There were more A's than any other grade, there being eighteen of them. There were also seven A plus and eleven A minus's. We are proud of this record, but we hope to excel it in the future.

Time to Play

"SOME people have all the luck!" Mrs. Workaday, from her kitchen window, where she sat stringing beans, watched Mrs. Playawhile jump into the roadster with her husband and young son—off for a Sunday morning spin. "Where DOES she find the time?" With another sigh Mrs. Workaday turned to her next job—preparing the chicken.

We gather from this domestic scene that Mrs. Workaday is going to have chicken and green beans for dinner. Right. Also that her dinner will be punctually served and dietetically correct. Right again. Whereas Mrs. Playawhile according to the rules of this yarn, should dash home belated and toss a helters-skelter dinner to a disgruntled family. So far, not so good.

As a Matter of Fact

Let us look in on Mrs. Playawhile. She has just returned from her drive and calls back towards the garage "Dinner at one!" The kitchen clock registers twenty-two minutes to one.

She places a can of flavor-sealed chicken in a pan of boiling water—government-inspected chicken, scientifically cooked. It takes twenty minutes to heat piping-hot. Then she opens a can of stringless beans. What was it that efficiency expert said at the cooking lecture?

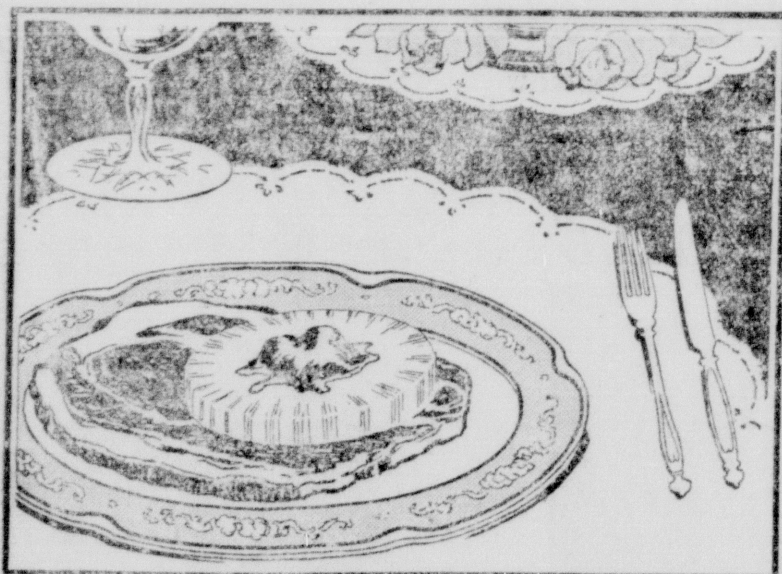

"Three quarters of an hour saved by using stringless beans; multiply by 24,000,000 families and the nation would save 18,000,000 hours—at no additional cost!"

The beans simmer slowly; the chicken heats in its own rich juices; our heroine arranges crisp Romaine leaves with Roquefort cheese dressing. A parting peek at that puffy pumpkin pie she baked Saturday and then—"Dinner's ready!"

Mrs. Playawhile sits down to dinner, glowing from the crisp morning air, feeling altogether fresh and fine; whereas if we looked in on Mrs. Workaday—

But it isn't nice to make a habit of looking in people's windows.

A HELP TO HAM

HAM has always been a popular meat in this country. So much of it is consumed, in fact, that dietitians have made a special study of what to serve with it in order to make it more digestible. For ham is a good food, rich in proteins, and if you like to eat a lot of it, because of its vigorous flavor, they want to be sure that your digestive apparatus can take care of it.

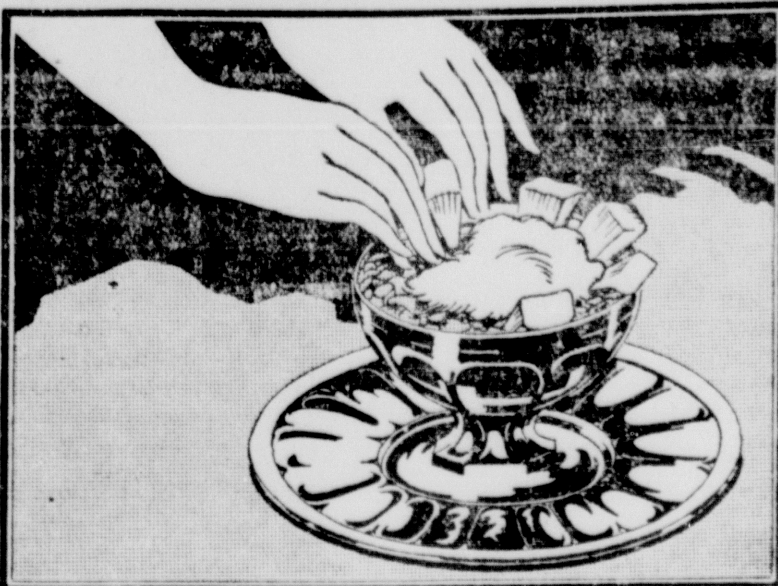

Of recent years, the porker, if he enjoys being eaten, has found himself indebted to Hawaii. A combination not only delectable but dietetically correct has been found in ham with Hawaiian pineapple. This fruit is blessed with a digestive enzyme called bromelin which acts powerfully on protein foods, and makes them easier to digest. That is the reason why pineapple is served so often nowadays with protein rich foods such as ham, pork, lamb chops, beef steak and other meats. Here are two recipes for its use with ham and pork.

Ham Hawaiian Style: Put slices of cold, boiled ham over bottom of shallow baking pan, one slice for each person to be served. On each slice put a slice of canned Hawaiian pineapple. In the hole of each slice force two ripe olives and then hide them by putting one tablespoon brown sugar over each hole. Place under broiler and brown well.

Pork Chops with Grilled Pineapple: Fry one and one-half pounds pork chops as usual, and remove to a hot platter. Meanwhile drain one 13-ounce can of sliced Hawaiian pineapple, place the slices on the broiler rack and brown under flame until golden on both sides. Place on a platter with the chops. This recipe will serve six people, and so plentiful is canned Hawaiian pineapple this year that the price is lower than usual, and a housewife should be able to serve it anywhere in this country at a cost of not more than seventy cents. And that's not the only economy. Every experienced housewife will be sure to save the syrup drained from the can to use in her cold surmer drinks.*

New Tastes and Tangs

THE typical tastes of many foods are good all by themselves, but there are others which require help in order to appeal to the palate. A fruit or drink may be too sweet and require a tinge of tartness in order to make an appetizing blend. Fortunately, the American housewife has at her command an incredible number of cans of Hawaiian pineapple. The number has grown steadily, year after year, not because the producer wanted to sell more pineapple, but because the American housewife's family demands variety, and she has discovered that she can get it by combining pineapple with many dishes. But the total result has been a great reduction in price.

Just a Little Tartness

The ordinary fruit cocktail, for instance, may be deliciously chilled, but a wee bit flat if it contains absolutely no tart fruit. One way to pep it up is by means of pineapple—either the crushed, the pineapple tidbits which are small pieces of just the right size to eat without cutting, or the sliced.

Ambrosia: Drain a small can of crushed pineapple and reserve the syrup. Quarter maraschino cherries from a small bottle and mix with the pineapple. Place in sherbet glasses. Whip one pint of cream, stir in two tablespoons of pineapple syrup and one of cherry syrup and four tablespoons of ground nutmeats. Add powdered sugar to taste if desired. Place the cream over the pineapple, and place in refrigerator a couple of hours before serving, so that it will be very cold. Top with a maraschino cherry just before serving.

Cantaloupe Cup

Cantaloupe Cup: Cut four cantaloupes in halves, scalloping the tops, remove the seeds and fill the halves with the following fruit mixture: two cups orange quarters, two cups cherries, two cups crushed pineapple, one cup sliced peaches, one cup grapefruit, one cup walnuts. Serve with whipped cream or the following dressing:

Mix one-fourth cup pineapple syrup, one-fourth cup lemon juice and one-fourth cup sugar. Put into a double boiler and when mixture boils, add two beaten eggs, stirring constantly. When thick, take off the fire, cool and fold in a cup of whipped cream.*

WHERE IT PAYS.

Does advertising pay? No, says the man who sticks his ad in some time-table or directory and expects people to wait around, look up and by seeing his name break their necks to get to his store. The man who wants to get results out of advertising places his message in the home paper that goes to the homes of his prospective customers and the readers appreciate the paper enough to pay to get it. A real concrete example as to whether newspaper advertising pays or not was shown in the strike of printers in New York City when the newspapers came out without any advertisements. During that time business in the department stores fell off 50 percent. A wedding announcement stuck up on a fence or a billboard might be read by a few but the same announcement in the local paper would be read by every subscriber. Don't put your light under a bushel, says the Scriptures. Put your advertising in newspapers that are printed for people to read.—Loveland (Ohio) Herald.

HINTS TO THE HOUSEWIFE.

By Betty Barclay.

Look over your emergency shelf and see whether or not you have everything you are likely to need for the coming holiday season. Guests are likely to arrive unexpectedly and you should be stocked so that soups, salads, and desserts may be made at a moment's notice without the necessity of telephoning or running to the nearest store.

Don't forget at least a can or a package of coconut. This healthful food should really be used much more by the average housewife than it is. The southern style coconut is particularly desirable for use with cake icings, candy, fresh fruit combinations, sweet salads, garnishes or decorations. Its moist sweetness and attractive appearance make it ideal here.

You should also have a package of the old-fashioned standby, shredded coconut, which is ideal for any dish in which it is combined and cooked with the mixture such as pie fillings, puddings and custards. This is also

Marse Henry's Idea

Tomatoes for Thrift

HOUSEWIVES who have been stocking up their shelves with canned tomatoes, in these days when solid pack tomatoes of fancy grade cost little less than one used to pay for the other grades, will find ample use for them in summer dishes even though they serve fresh tomatoes generously. You can probably get more different dishes from tomatoes than any other one vegetable excepting potatoes. And summer tomato dishes are very different from winter ones.

For example, chilled tomato soup, should be served often on the summer menu, because while they are a delicacy as far as taste is concerned, the vitamins they contain are a real essential to health. Tomato bisques are also excellent for a first course of meals consisting of cold meats and salads. And tomato cocktails bid fair to be more popular than ever this summer, since so many new recipes have been devised for concocting them.

Even for breakfast, tomatoes are useful. In making an eight-egg omelet, two cups of tomatoes drained and poured into the beaten eggs, add to the flavor, and the juice drained from them is a delectable morning drink. A tasty luncheon dish is Frozen Tomato Salad which is especially good served with thin toasted cheese wafers. Potato salad in tomato aspic is also a nourishing and tempting noon-day dish.

Cold and Colorful

Here is a new tomato delicacy you will like:

Frappé Tomatoes: Remove the paper from an 8-ounce can of tomato sauce and immerse in a mixture of ice and salt for four hours (or freeze in your automatic refrigerator). Remove from can and slice the tomatoes thin. Slice thin and lay in bed of shredded lettuce. Serve with the meat course.*
